

The causal carrier behaves like a distributed field, not an object-local feature

Selected image positions do not outperform count-matched random positions; the whole field is the discontinuity.

